Overview of Labor Laws

(1) Purpose

- To regulate the terms and conditions of employment and labor-management relations to ensure workers' humane living conditions and equality between workers and employers

(2) Classification

- Labor laws can be largely classified into four groups as follows: laws on individual labor relations, laws on collective labor relations, laws on collaborative labor relations, and other employment-related laws.

① Laws on individual labor relations

- To regulate labor relations between individual workers and employers
- To present criteria for entering into an employment contract, the details of labor relations and its revision and termination, etc. in order to protect workers' terms and conditions of employment.

② Laws on collective labor relations

- To regulate labor relations between workers' groups such as labor unions and workers' representatives and employers

- To ensure the association of workers who are at a financial and social disadvantage so that they can maintain an equal relationship with employers, thereby realizing labor-management autonomy

③ Laws on collaborative labor relations

- To regulate the matters required to enhance the profit of employers and workers through participation and cooperation between employers and workers in order to contribute to corporate growth, industrial peace and the development of the national economy
- To avoid confrontation and struggle between workers and employers and to overcome the limits of labor relations

④ Other employment-related laws

- To regulate matters pertaining to ensuring the balance of supply and demand in the labor market, and the stability of workers' livelihoods and the development of the national economy through stabilization of employment

(3) Legal bases

- Meaning

- Generally, “legal bases” refers to subsistence and formality of laws.
- Herein, “legal bases” exist to understand the normative contents of labor laws.

- Types

- The Constitution, laws and ordinances labor-related customary laws, management practices, collective agreement, rules of employment, trade union rules, etc.

※ ILO conventions have no domestic legal effectiveness until they are ratified by the National Assembly.

- Contradiction of legal bases

- Where norms that serve as legal bases of labor laws contradict, which one should be given priority becomes an issue of debate

- ① The upper law-first principle

: Constitution > Acts > Enforcement decrees > Collective agreement > Employment rules > Employment contract > Instructions by employers

- ② The new law-first principle

: Where two or more laws are applicable, the newest one should apply even if it is more disadvantageous to workers.

- ③ The special law-first principle

: Where a law is applicable to a specific object or purpose, it should be applied to the relevant object or purpose.

④ The more advantageous condition-first principle

- (a) Where a lower legal basis has a more advantageous content than an upper legal basis, the lower one should apply.
- (b) Where an upper legal basis has a content more disadvantageous to workers than a lower legal basis, it should be nullified.
- (c) Where the new law-first principle is in conflict with the more advantageous condition-first principle, the new law-first principle should prevail.

11. Matters pertaining to the prevention of workplace harassment and the measures to be taken in cases of occurrence of workplace harassment;
12. Matters pertaining to award and punishment;
13. Other matters applicable to all employees within the business or workplace concerned.

※ Family allowance, commendation, meal expense, work-related supplies, bonus, mutual aid concerning non-occupational disaster, etc. do not fall under the category of statutory terms and conditions of employment and thus may not be adopted by an employer.

- Obligation to display the rules of employment and to make them accessible (Article 14, Labor Standards Act)
 - The rules of employment should be placed at locations easily accessible by workers.
- Workers' participation in drawing up or altering the rules of employment
 - ① Listening to opinions
 - With regard to the preparation or alteration of the rules of employment, an employer shall:

- Relationship between rules of employment and labor contracts
 - The part of a labor contract containing terms/conditions of employment falling short of the standards stipulated in rules of employment should be invalid.
 - The said part that has become invalid should follow the standards stipulated in the rules of employment.

(3) Wages

- Meaning
 - “Wages” refers to all money and valuables including pay and the like paid by an employer his/her workers in exchange for their service.
- Wage payment-related principles
 - Paid in a currency
 - Paid directly to workers
 - Full amount of wage paid to workers
 - Paid at least once a month at a given date(s)
- ※ Wage payment on extraordinary occasions:

Where a worker asks for wage payment for the service already provided by him/her before the monthly payday due to childbirth, disease, disaster or an extraordinary situation (e.g. wedding, death or an inevitable situation requiring him/her to stay away from his/her workplace for more than a week) prescribed by Presidential Decree, the employer should comply with the request.

Article 43 (Payment of Wages)

- (1) Payment of wages shall be directly made in full to employees in currency: Provided, That if otherwise prescribed by statutes or by a collective agreement, wages may partially be deducted or may be paid by means other than currency.
- (2) Wages shall be paid at least once per month on a fixed day: Provided, That this shall not apply to extraordinary wages, allowances, or other similar payments, or those wages prescribed by Presidential Decree.

Article 45 (Emergency Payment)

An employer shall pay wages corresponding to work already offered even prior to the payday, if an employee requests the employer to do so in order to cover expenses for childbirth, diseases, disasters, or other cases of emergency as prescribed by Presidential Decree.

- Average wage

- ① Meaning

- “Average wages” means the amount calculated by dividing the total amount of wages paid to a relevant employee during three calendar months immediately before the day grounds for calculating his/her average wages occurred by the total number of calendar days during the three months.

② Occasions where average wages are used

- Calculation of retirement allowance
- Calculation of disaster compensation (e.g. compensation for medical treatment, compensation for business suspension, accidental compensation, compensation for the bereaved family, compensation for funeral expenses)
- Restrictions on a punitive wage cut* (Article 95, Labor Standards Act)

* Punitive wage cut: To reduce the wage bonds incurred if there is justifiable reason for the worker

• Ordinary wages

① Meaning

- “Ordinary wages” means the amount of hourly wage, daily wage, weekly wage, monthly wage or contract amount that an employer has agreed to pay to a worker regularly and uniformly in return for the service provided by the worker.

Court precedents concerning ordinary wages

The Supreme Court's en banc Decision (on Dec. 18, 2013)

● Concept

- “Ordinary wages” means monetary valuation of work provided by a worker during given work hours per a labor contract

● Judgment criteria

① Regularity

- Whether they are paid regularly
- At a fixed time interval of a month or more than a month

② Uniformity

- Whether they are paid to all workers of an employer
- Including what is paid to workers meeting certain conditions or criteria

③ Fixed amount

- Whether they are paid regardless of performance or achievement

※Classification as ordinary wage

Type of wage	Description	Whether falling under ordinary wage
License-holder allowance	Allowance paid to a holder of a qualification/license	○
Long-service allowance	Allowance paid to a worker who has worked for more than a given period of time	○
Family allowance	Allowance paid per the number of dependents	× (A condition that has nothing to do with work)
	Allowance paid to all workers regardless of the number of dependents	○ (Nominal family allowance, can be uniform)
Performance-based pay	Allowance paid based on performance evaluation	× (Depending on conditions, cannot be fixed)
	A minimum amount of performance-based pay	○ (Can be uniform and fixed to the extent)

Type of wage	Description	Whether falling under ordinary wage
Bonus	Regularly paid bonus	○
	Bonus paid per the business's performance or the employer's judgment (e.g. management result allocation, incentives)	× (Cannot be determined in advance or be fixed)
Money or valuables paid/ provided on a special occasion	e.g. those paid on a special holiday or to workers on leave	× (Cannot be compensated for work or be fixed)
	What is provided/paid to retirees in proportion to the length of their service	○ (Can be fixed to an amount proportional to the length of service)

● Others

- Even for the same type of wage, court rulings on whether a wage constitutes ordinary wage may differ depending on the circumstances.

② Cases that fall under the category of ordinary wage

- “Average wages” means the amount calculated by dividing the total amount of wages paid to a relevant employee during three calendar months immediately before the day grounds for calculating his/her average wages occurred by the total number of calendar days during the three months.

● Minimum wage system

① Meaning

- A system that requires employers to follow the government-set minimum level of wage to be paid to a worker

※ Minimum wages to be applied from 1 January to 31 December 2021: KRW 8,720 per hour; KRW 69,760 per day; or KRW 1,822,480 won per month (converted)(based on a 40-hour work week)

② Eligibility

- All workers are eligible regardless of the type of their employment including temporary workers.

③ Method of application

- Items of wage falling under the category of minimum wage translated into hourly wage

④ Items not included in calculation of minimum wage

- Refer to Article 6 (4) of the Minimum Wage Act, Article 2 of the Enforcement Rules of the Act

④ Deemed work hours system outside the workplace

(a) Required conditions

- Work should be performed outside the normal workplace.
- It is difficult to calculate work hours
- The hours recognized as work hours should be defined.
 - (1) Where it is recognized as fixed work hours: The hours agreed upon by the labor and management within the statutory work hours
 - (2) Where it is recognized as hours normally needed: The hours needed to carry out the relevant work
 - (3) Where it is recognized as hours agreed upon by the labor and management in writing

Comparison of work hour systems

- Deemed work hours system defines a convenient method for calculating work hours, while the other two systems change the work hours through adjustment and allocation of work hours.

Criteria	Flexible work schedule system / selective work hours system	Deemed work hours system
Whether readjustment of daily work hours is required	Yes	No
How work hours are calculated	Based on real work hours	Based on deemed work hours, as it is difficult to calculate real work hours

⑤ Discretionary work hours system

(a) Required conditions

- The work should fall under the category of “discretionary work”:
Article 31 of the Enforcement Decree of the Labor Standards Act;
MOEL Notice No. 2019-36 (amended on Jul. 31, 2019*)
 Financial investment analysis/Investment property operation were added to the scope of “discretionary work”*
- The discretionary nature of the work should be recognized
- The employer and the labor representative should reach an agreement in writing including the following:
 - (1) Eligible work
 - (2) A statement to the effect that the employer will not instruct the employees specifically concerning the means and time allotted for the performance of their works
 - (3) Work hours shall be calculated as agreed upon in writing.
- Documents about agreements in writing should be kept for three years.

⑥ Compensatory leave

(a) Required conditions

- The employer and the labor representative should reach an agreement in writing.
- Details should be worked out voluntarily by both the employer and the labor representative.

Matters to be included in the written agreement concerning compensatory leave system

How to provide leave to workers	Whether to apply compensatory leave system uniformly to all workers or only to those accepting it
Workers' right to claim wages	Whether to recognize the right to claim leave or wage on a selective basis or whether to recognize only the right to claim leave
Criteria for providing compensatory leave	Whether to have compensatory leave based on the entire wage including overtime/night work/holiday work allowances or only on the said allowances

Source: The MOEL, Guide to flexible work hours systems (Aug 2019)

(b) Notes

- Where workers have not used their leave, the employer should make up for it with pay.
- An employer is not released of his/her duty to make up for unused leave with pay by urging workers to take leave they are entitled to.

[Title amended on Jan. 05, 2021]

Article 51-2 (Flexible work hour system exceeding three months)

- ① The employer may have the employees work the work hours provided under Article 50 (1) on a specific day in a specific week in excess of the work hours provided under Article 50 (2) within the extent that the average weekly work hours do not exceed the work hours provided under Article 50 (1) in three to six unit months, provided that the employer specifies the items listed below based on a written agreement with the employees' representative. However, the work hours in any specific week and the work hours on a specific day shall not exceed 52 and 12 hours, respectively.
 1. Scope of applicable employees
 2. Unit periods (The unit periods shall be determined within a prescribed period of three to six months).
 3. Weekly work hours in the unit period
 4. Other related matters provided under the Presidential Decree
- ② The employer shall provide the employees with recess of 11 or more hours from the end of the work day prior to the start of the next work day when the employees are required to work as provided under paragraph 1. However, in inevitable cases provided under the Presidential Decree, such as a natural disaster, the employer shall follow a written agreement with the employees' representative if any.
- ③ The employer shall notify the employees of the daily work hours of the relevant week two weeks before the work day of each week starts pursuant to paragraph 1 subparagraph 3.
- ④ The employer may modify the provisions under paragraph 1 subparagraph 3 based on consultation with the employees' representative within the extent that the weekly work hours are maintained by averaging them within the unit period under paragraph 1 subparagraph 2 when an inevitable cause arises that is unexpected at the time of the written agreement with the employees' representative based on paragraph 1, including a natural disaster, mechanical error, or drastic increase of the work load. In such a case, the employer shall notify the relevant employees of the modified daily work hours before the modified work day starts.

- ⑤ To have the employees work as provided under paragraph 1, the employer shall report to the Minister of Employment and Labor Affairs a plan to compensate the wages so that the existing wage level is not lowered by adjusting or newly setting their wage items or by paying additional wages. However, this shall not apply when a wage compensation plan is developed based on a written agreement with the employees' representative.
- ⑥ The provisions under paragraphs 1 to 5 shall not apply to employees aged 15 to 18 years and pregnant female employees.

Article 55 (Holidays)

- (1) An employer shall guarantee to employees at least one paid holiday per week on the average. <Amended on Mar. 20, 2018>
- (2) An employer shall guarantee to employees paid holidays as prescribed by Presidential Decree: Provided, That where he/she makes a written agreement with the labor representative, such paid holidays may be substituted with particular working days. <Newly Inserted on Mar. 20, 2018>

[Enforcement Date] The amended provisions of Article 55 (2) shall enter into force on the following dates:

1. Business or workplaces regularly employing at least 300 employees, public institutions under Article 4 of the Act on the Management of Public Institutions, local government-invested public corporations or local public agencies under Article 49 or 76 of the Local Public Enterprises Act, institutions or organizations in or to which the State, a local government or a government-invested institution makes an investment of at least 1/2 their capital or a contribution of at least 1/2 of their endowment, institutions or organizations in or to which the abovementioned institutions or organizations make an investment of at least 1/2 of their capital or a contribution of at least 1/2 of their endowment, and institutions of the State or local governments: Jan. 1, 2020
2. Business or workplaces regularly employing between 30 and less than 300 employees: Jan. 1, 2021
3. Business or workplaces regularly employing between 5 and less than 30 employees: Jan. 1, 2022

- Paid weekly holidays (Article 55 (1), the above Act)
 - At least one paid holiday per week
 - Workers should use a weekly holiday on that particular week (not necessarily a Sunday).
 - Weekly holidays cannot be accumulated and used consecutively.

Weekly holiday allowance

- It refers to allowance paid to a worker who has come to work in full during a scheduled weekly work period.
 - Where a scheduled weekly period is for 15 hours or more and a worker is scheduled to work in the following week, the employer should pay weekly holiday allowance to the worker.
 - Formula for calculation of the said allowance: daily contractual work hours × hourly wage
- ※ In the case of most monthly paid workers, their annual salary stated in their labor contract includes weekly holiday allowance(Included when monthly work hour is calculated)

- Paid annual leave

① Meaning

- Compensation for employees who have worked continuously for one year or longer
- The system is intended to enhance workers' welfare and provide work-life balance.

② Number of days provided

- 15 days of paid leave provided to a worker who has worked for at least 80 percent of a year*

* A year: With regard to a period exceeding a year, an employer is not obligated to include the excess period in the number of days for paid annual leave on a pro rata basis, unless such is stipulated in the labor contract.

- For a worker who has continued to worked for less than a year or who has worked for less than 80 percent of a year: one day of paid annual leave for each month of service
- For a worker who has continued to work for three years or longer: one additional day of paid annual leave for every two years of continued service exceeding the first year (up to 25 days)

③ When to grant paid annual leave

- Employers should grant paid annual leave as requested by workers, but the period may be changed if the leave period may seriously disrupt business.

④ Allowance for unused paid annual leave

- A worker's right to claim paid annual leave extinguishes if unused for that particular year, but the right to claim compensation through pay does not extinguish.

⑤ Measures to urge workers to take annual paid leave

(a) Meaning

- Where a worker's right to use annual leave is extinguished despite the employer's efforts to urge workers to use them, the employer is not obligated to make up for the unused leave.

(b) Method of enforcement

- Steps taken over two phases
 - (1) The employer's notice of the unused leave within 10 days of six months ahead of the one year mark after the occurrence of the right to claim annual leave; and then a written urging to inform the employer of the schedule of using the leave
 - (2) The employer's written notice about by when the leave should be used two months ahead of the one year mark after the occurrence of the right to claim annual leave

(c) Effect

- A worker's right to use annual leave is extinguished if it is not used due to a reason attributable to him/her despite the employer's urging to use it.
- The employer may choose to not pay allowance for annual paid leave not used.

(d) Encouragement of employees who have continually served for less than one year to consume their annual leave (Newly inserted on March 31, 2020):

- The employer shall inform the employees of any unused leave of up to 10 days three months before the end of the first one-year service period, and shall encourage them in writing to notify him/her of their planned period of use of their outstanding annual leave.

(However, the employer shall encourage the employees to inform the employer within five days regarding the leave days accrued after the employer's written encouragement, as of one month prior to the end of the first one-year service period.)

- If the employees fail to notify the employer of their plans to use all or a part of the remaining leave days within 10 days of receiving such encouragement, the employer shall notify the employees in writing of the time limit on their use of the remaining leave days no later than one month before the end of the first one-year service period.

(For the leave days encouraged to be used pursuant to the above proviso, employees shall be notified in writing at least 10 days before the end of the first one-year employment period.)

Article 60 (Annual Paid Leave)

- (1) Every employer shall grant any employee who has worked not less than 80 percent of one year a paid leave of 15 days. <Amended Feb. 1, 2012>
- (2) Every employer shall grant any employee who has continuously worked for less than one year or who has worked less than 80 percentage of one year one paid-leave day for each month during which he/she has continuously worked. <Amended Feb. 1, 2012>
- (3) Deleted. <Nov. 28, 2017>
- (4) Every employer shall grant any employee who has continuously worked for not less than three years the paid-leave days that are calculated by adding one day for every two continuously working years not including the first one year to the 15 paid-leave days referred to in paragraph (1). In this case, the total number of paid-leave days, including the additional paid-leave days, shall not exceed 25 days.
- (5) Every employer shall grant the paid leave referred to in paragraphs (1) through (4) at the time when an employee files a claim therefor, and pay the employee an ordinary wage or an average wage during the period of paid leave as prescribed by the rules of employment, etc.: Provided, That in the event that granting the employee a paid leave at the time when such employee wants to take the paid leave greatly impedes the business operation, the relevant employer may change the time of the paid leave.
- (6) In applying paragraphs (1) and (2), any of the following periods shall be deemed the period of attendance at work. <Amended Nov. 28, 2017>
 1. Period during which an employee takes time off due to any injury or sickness arising out of duty
 2. Period during which a woman in pregnancy takes time off due to the leave under the provisions of Article 74 (1) through (3)
 3. Period during which an employee takes time off on child-care leave under Article 19 (1) of the Equal Employment Opportunity and Work-Family Balance Assistance Act.

(7) The paid leave referred to in paragraphs (1), (2) and (4), shall, if it is not taken for one year (the paid leave for an employee who has worked continuously for less than one year pursuant to paragraph 2 shall be the period until the first one-year of employment expires), be terminated by time limitation: Provided, That the same shall not apply where the paid leave is not taken for reasons attributable to the employer. <Amended Mar. 31, 2020>

Article 61 (Measures to Urge Employees to Take Annual Paid Leave)

(1) Where any employee's paid leave is terminated by time limitation pursuant to the main sentence of Article 60 (7) because the employee fails to take his/her paid leave although the relevant employer has taken the measures falling under each of the following subparagraphs to urge employees to make their respective annual leave pursuant to Article 60 (1), (2) and (4) (excluding the paid leave pursuant to Article 60 (2) of employees who have worked continuously for less than a year), the relevant employer is not liable to indemnify the employee for his/her failure to take the paid leave, and the employee's failure to take the paid leave shall be deemed not to fall under the reasons attributable to the employer provided for in the proviso to Article 60 (7). <Amended Feb. 1, 2012, Nov. 28, 2017, Mar. 31, 2020>

1. Any employer shall notify in writing every employee of the number of days of his/her paid leave that has not been taken, and shall urge every employee to notify the employer of a period he/she is planning for the paid leave after determining on such period within 10 days as, at the six months before the period under the main sentence of Article 60 (7) expires.
2. Notwithstanding the urge referred to in subparagraph 1, if the employee fails to notify the employer of a period during which he/she is planning to take all or part of his/her remaining paid leave within ten days from the date he/she is urged to take his/her paid leave, the employer shall notify in writing the employee after setting a period for his/her paid leave, by not later than two months before the period under the main sentence of Article 60 (7) expires.

(2) Where the employer has taken the following measures to urge employees who have worked continuously for less than one year to take paid leave under Article 60 (2) but the employee did not take the paid leave and the leave was terminated pursuant to the main sentence of Article 60 (7), the relevant employer is not liable to indemnify the employee for his/her failure to take the paid leave, and the employee's failure to take the paid leave shall be deemed not to fall under the reasons attributable to the employer provided for in the proviso to the same paragraph. <Newly inserted on Mar. 31, 2020>

1. The employer shall inform each employee of his/her untaken leave days within 10 days of the expiration of three months before the last day of the first one-year employment period and urge employees in writing to designate the days on which the remaining leave days will be taken and inform the employer thereof. However, for the number of leave days which are generated after the employer's written encouragement, employees shall be urged within five days of the expiration of one month before the last day of the first one-year employment period.
2. If, notwithstanding the encouragement in subparagraph 1, the relevant employee does not designate all or part of the remaining leave days that will be taken and inform the employer thereof within 10 days of the date of receiving the encouragement, the employer shall inform the employee in writing of the days the remaining leave days will be taken. However, for the leave days that the employer encouraged to take pursuant to the proviso of subparagraph 1, a written notice shall be given before 10 days of the expiration of the first one-year employment period.

Article 62 (Substitution of Paid Leave)

An employer may, by a written agreement with the labor representative, get employees to take a paid leave on a particular working day, in substitution of an annual paid leave provided for in Article 60.

- Compensatory leave system

- ① Meaning

- An employer may choose to let a worker use leave rather than paying for overtime work, night work, or holiday work if so agreed in writing with the labor representative.
 - Details may be included in a written agreement reached between the employer and the labor representative per the law.

- ② Number of days provided

- Overtime work, night work, or holiday work hours plus relevant additional wage translated into work hours (e.g. in the case of two hours of holiday work, normally the employer should pay wage equal to three hours of work including what is added, so the worker is entitled to three hours of compensatory leave).

- ③ Unused compensatory leave

- The employer should pay the wage. (The employer should not urge the worker to use the leave.)

- ④ Allowance for unused paid annual leave

- A worker's right to claim paid annual leave extinguishes if unused for that particular year, but the right to claim compensation through pay does not extinguish.

- Designated holidays

- The employer and the labor representative should agree on the details (such as conditions and methods for providing the holidays).
 - The methods of compensation for unused holidays should be decided by both parties.

(6) Retirement and dismissal

• Retirement

① Payment/provision of retirement allowance/valuables

- With regard to a worker's retirement (including death), the employer should pay/provide what is due (wage, compensation or valuables) within 14 days.*

 Within 14 days of the day the labor relations are terminated due to retirement (including death) or dismissal.*

- In the event of an extraordinary situation, the period may be extended per what is agreed between the employer and the labor representative.

② Work experience certificate

- Upon a retired worker's request, the employer should issue a certificate containing the following information: period of work, job type, position, wages paid, etc.

③ No obstruction of job seeking effort

- An employer should not engage in an act (including the use of a secret sign, list or means of communications) of obstructing an ex-employee's job seeking effort.

④ Retirement allowance

(a) Retirement allowance

- A certain sum of money paid to workers who have worked for a certain period of time
- At least 30 days' worth of average wage per every year of continued work

- 10 percent of the workers or more for a business/workplace with 100 workers or more, but 999 or less
- 100 workers or more for a business/workplace with 1,000 workers or more

Article 23 (Restriction on Dismissal, etc.)

- (1) An employer shall not, without justifiable cause, dismiss, lay off, suspend, or transfer an employee, reduce his/her wages, or take other punitive measures (hereinafter referred to as “unfair dismissal, etc.”) against him/her.
- (2) An employer shall not dismiss an employee during a period of suspension of work for medical treatment of an occupational injury or disease and within 30 days immediately thereafter, and any woman before and after childbirth shall not be dismissed during a period of suspension of work as prescribed by this Act and for 30 days immediately thereafter: Provided, That this shall not apply where the employer has paid a lump sum compensation as provided for under Article 84 or where the employer may not continue to conduct his/her business.

Article 24 (Restrictions on Dismissal for Managerial Reasons)

- (1) Where an employer intends to dismiss an employee for managerial reasons, there must be an urgent managerial necessity. In this case, it shall be deemed that there is an urgent managerial necessity for the transfer, merger, or acquisition of the business in order to prevent managerial deterioration.
- (2) In case of paragraph (1), an employer shall make every effort to avoid dismissal and shall establish and follow reasonable and fair criteria for the selection of those persons subject to dismissal. In this case, there shall be no discrimination on the basis of gender.

- (3) Where there is an organized trade union that represents more than half of the employees at the business or workplace, the employer shall inform at least 50 days before the intended date of dismissal and consult in good faith with the trade union (where there is no such organized trade union, this shall refer to a person who represents more than half of the employees; hereinafter referred to as “labor representative”) regarding the methods for avoiding dismissals, the criteria for dismissal, etc. under paragraph (2).
- (4) When an employer intends to dismiss personnel under paragraph (1) above the fixed limit prescribed by Presidential Decree, he/she shall report to the Minister of Employment and Labor as determined by Presidential Decree. <Amended on Jun. 4, 2010>
- (5) When an employer dismisses employees in accordance with the conditions prescribed in paragraphs (1) through (3), it shall be deemed a dismissal with proper cause under Article 23 (1).

④ Dismissal procedures

(a) Dismissal notice

- Dismissal procedures.
- To dismiss a worker, the employer should give at least a 30-day notice or 30 days' worth of ordinary wage.
- But this does not apply to a worker who has worked for less than three months, or where continuation of the business is impossible due to natural disasters, incidents or other unavoidable circumstances, or where the worker has intentionally caused serious damage to the business or property loss, which falls under the reasons prescribed by the MOEL's Ordinance.*

 Enforcement Rules (attached Table) of the Labor Standards Act – Detailed prescription of reasons attributable to workers, where an employer does not have to give a dismissal notice.*

Article 26 (Advance Notice of Dismissal)

When an employer intends to dismiss an employee (including dismissal for management reasons), he/she shall give the employee a notice of dismissal at least 30 days in advance of such dismissal, and, if the employer fails to give such advance notice, he/she shall pay such employee a 30 days' ordinary wage at the least: Provided, That where any of the following is applicable, this shall not apply: <Amended on Jun. 4, 2010; Jan. 15, 2019>

1. Where the period during which the employee has worked continuously is less than three months
2. Where continuation of the business is impossible due to natural disasters, incidents or other unavoidable circumstances
3. Where the employee has intentionally caused serious damage to the business or property loss, which falls under the reasons prescribed by Ordinance of the Ministry of Employment and Labor.

(b) Written notice of dismissal

- Dismissal of a worker should be communicated to the worker, along with the reason for dismissal and the timing. Failure to follow what is stated in the foregoing sentence makes the dismissal invalid.

Article 27 (Written Notice of Grounds, etc. for Dismissal)

- (1) When an employer intends to dismiss an employee, he/she shall notify the employee in writing of grounds and timing for the dismissal.
- (2) The dismissal of an employee shall become effective only upon a written notice pursuant to paragraph (1).
- (3) Where an employer has given an employee an advance notice of dismissal under Article 26 in writing, stating grounds and timing for dismissal, the employer shall be deemed to have given notification under paragraph (1). <Newly Inserted on Mar. 24, 2014>

(c) Period in which a dismissal should not be executed

- Period during which a worker takes time off due to any injury or sickness arising out of duty and for 30 days thereafter.
- Period during which a female worker takes time off due to maternity leave and for 30 days thereafter.

(d) Procedure provided under the employment rules or by a collective agreement

- Failure to follow the given procedure may nullify the punitive action, including advance notice of the reasons for disciplinary actions, the holding of the Employee Disciplinary Punishment Committee meeting.

(7) Maternity protection and support for work-life balance

• Maternity protection

① Maternity leave (Article 74 (1), Labor Standards Act)

- An employer shall grant a pregnant worker a total of a 90-day maternity leave (120-day maternity leave, if she is pregnant with two or more children at a time) before and after childbirth.
- In such cases, at least 45 days (60 days, if she is pregnant with two or more children at a time) of the leave period after childbirth shall be allowed.

Collective Labor Relations

(1) Trade unions

• Meaning

- A trade union is an organization formed by workers independently.
- The country puts no restrictions on types of trade unions. Under the two pillars, i.e. FKTU (Federation of Korean Trade Unions) and KCTU (Korean Confederation of Trade Unions), there are industrial federations and nation-wide organizations like industrial unions and unions for individual businesses.

• Formation of a trade union

① Basic principles

- Workers may decide the following on their own: whether to establish a trade union, its type, and whether to join it.
- Workers' rights of association are guaranteed. Workers are free to form their trade union. Workers may have plural trade unions in a business entity.

② Requirements (Article 2, Subparagraph 4, Trade Union and Labor Relations Adjustment Act)

(a) Substantial requirements

• (Positive requirements)

- (1) The union should be voluntarily formed by workers.
- (2) The union should be formed in collective manner upon the workers' initiative

- (3) The union's purpose is to maintain and improve working conditions and to enhance the social and economic status of workers
- (4) The union should be an organization or associated organization
- (Passive requirements) An organization shall not be regarded as a trade union in cases falling under any of the following:
 - (1) Where an employer or other persons who always act in the interest of the employer is allowed to join it
 - (2) Where most of its expenditure is supported by the employer
 - (3) Where its activities are only aimed at mutual benefits, moral culture and other welfare undertakings
 - (4) Where those who are not workers are allowed to join it
 - (5) In case where its aims are mainly directed at political movements

Article 2 (Definitions)

The terms used in this Act shall be defined be as follows: <Amended on Jan 5, 2021>

1. The term "worker" means any person who lives on wages, a salary, or any other income equivalent thereto, regardless of the person's occupation.
2. The term "employer" means a business owner, a person responsible for the management of a business or a person who acts on behalf of a business owner with regard to matters concerning workers in the business.
3. The term "employers' association" means an organization of employers which has powers to adjust or control its members in connection with labor relations.
4. The term "trade union" means an organization or associated organizations of workers, which is formed in voluntary and collective manner upon the workers' initiative for the purpose of maintaining and improving their working conditions and enhancing their economic and social status: Provided, That an organization shall not be regarded as a trade union in cases falling under any of the following subparagraphs:

- A. Where an employer or other persons who always act in the interest of the employer is allowed to join it
 - B. Where most of its expenditure is supported by the employer
 - C. Where its activities are only aimed at mutual benefits, moral culture and other welfare undertakings
 - D. Where those who are not workers are allowed to join it
 - E. In case where its aims are mainly directed at political movements
5. The term "industrial disputes" means any controversy or difference arising from disagreements between a trade union and an employer or employers' association (hereinafter referred to as "parties to labor relations") with respect to the determination of terms and conditions of employment as wages, working hours, welfare, dismissal, and other treatments. In such cases, the disagreements refer to situations in which the parties to labor relations are no longer likely to reach an agreement by means of voluntary bargaining even if they continue to make such an attempt
6. The term "industrial actions" means actions or counter-actions which obstruct the normal operation of a business, such as strikes, sabotage, lock-outs, and other activities through which the parties to labor relations intend to accomplish their claims.

(2) Collective bargaining

• Meaning

- Bargaining carried out between trade union and employers or employers' association concerning matters related to labor-management relations including the terms and conditions of employment

• Key actors

① Parties to collective bargaining

- The trade union representing workers and the business owner

② Parties in charge of collective bargaining

(a) Original parties in charge

- (On worker's side) The trade union representative and negotiators

- (On employer's side) Those representing employers or employers' association

(b) Those entrusted

- The trade union and employers or employers' association may delegate the right for bargaining or signing a collective agreement to third parties.
- There are no legal restrictions over the qualification or the number of the delegates.
- The delegate(s) may exercise his/their rights within the scope of delegation.
- The delegating party shall inform the other party of the fact of delegation including the name of the delegates/delegate organization, the name of the representative, and the substance of delegation such as the matters of negotiation and the scope of the right (Article 14, Enforcement Decree of the Trade Union and Trade Relations Adjustment Act).

Article 29 (Authority to Bargain and Make Agreement)

- (1) The representative of a trade union shall have the authority to bargain and make a collective agreement with the employer or employers' association for the trade union and its members.
- (2) The representative of a representative bargaining trade union (hereinafter referred to as "representative bargaining trade union") determined pursuant to Article 29-2 shall have the authority to bargain and make a collective agreement with an employer for all the trade unions and members requesting bargaining. <Newly Inserted on Jan. 1, 2010>
- (3) A person who is delegated authority by a trade union, an employer, or an employers' association to bargain and make a collective agreement may exercise the authority within the scope of said delegation for the trade union, the employer or the employers' association. <Amended on Jan. 1, 2010>

- Matters subject to collective bargaining

- ① Meaning

- Matters for the trade union and its members should be matters subject to collective bargaining. (Article 29 (1), the above Act)
 - An employer not responding to the labor representative's requesting bargaining bears the burden of unfair labor practice.

- ② Agenda

- (a) Matters for trade union members

- Matters concerning or closely related to terms/conditions of employment
 - With regard to matters related to personnel affairs/management rights, opinions are divided about the scope of bargaining. Thus, it is necessary to make a decision considering the essence of specific matters.
 - Matters related to trade union members

- (b) Matters for the trade union

- Opinions are divided about whether the following are matters subject to bargaining: clauses related to procedures, provision of convenience, time/procedure/methods of union activities related to collective bargaining or industrial actions.

• Procedures and methods

① Autonomy

- The law leaves employers and unions to decide the procedures and methods of collective bargaining.
- It is desirable for employers and labor unions to establish matters such as the date, time, venue, attendees, attitude concerning collective bargaining in the collective agreement prior to bargaining.

② Plural labor unions in a business and simplification of bargaining windows

(a) Legal basis

- Where not less than two trade unions established or joined by workers exist in one business or one place of work regardless of the type of organization, trade unions shall determine a representative bargaining trade union and request the same to bargain (Article 29-2 (1), the above Act).

(b) Procedure for simplification of bargaining windows

• (Deciding which trade union will participate in bargaining)

Trade union's initial request for bargaining → Employer posts the bargaining request → Request other trade unions' participation in bargaining → Employer finalizes the trade unions requesting bargaining

• (Determine a representative bargaining trade union)

- (1) A representative bargaining trade union determined of their own accord:

The trade unions participating in the procedures for determining a representative bargaining trade union shall determine a representative bargaining trade union of their own accord and inform the employer of it.

- (2) Formation of a trade union comprised of a majority of all participating trade unions:

Where the trade unions fail to determine a representative bargaining trade union, a labor union comprised of a majority of all the members of the trade unions participating in procedures for the simplification of bargaining windows shall be a representative bargaining trade union.

- (3) Joint bargaining delegation:

Where the trade unions fail to determine a representative bargaining trade union through a procedure stated in the foregoing, all the participating trade unions shall organize a bargaining delegation jointly. (Where the trade unions fail to organize a joint bargaining delegation pursuant to the foregoing procedure, the Labor Relations Commission may determine the same in consideration of the ratio of members of trade unions at the request of the relevant trade unions.)

Article 29-2 (Procedures for Simplification of Bargaining Windows)

- (1) Where not less than two trade unions established or joined by workers exist in one business or one place of work regardless of the type of organization, trade unions shall determine a representative bargaining trade union (including a representative bargaining organization, the constituent members of which are members of not less than two trade unions; hereinafter the same shall apply) and request the same to bargain: Provided, That this shall not apply where an employer consents not to undergo procedures for the simplification of bargaining windows prescribed by this Article within the period for determination of a representative bargaining trade union by the trade unions of their own accord pursuant to paragraph (3). <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>
- (2) In cases falling under the proviso of paragraph 1, the employer shall faithfully negotiate with all labor unions that request or demand bargaining or negotiation without discriminating against them. <Newly Inserted Jan. 5, 2021>

- (3) All the trade unions which participate in the procedures for determining a representative bargaining trade union (hereinafter referred to as “procedures for the simplification of bargaining windows”) shall determine a representative bargaining trade union of their own accord within the period prescribed by Presidential Decree. <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>
- (4) Where the trade unions fail to determine a representative bargaining trade union within the period pursuant to paragraph (3) and to obtain consent of an employer pursuant to the proviso to paragraph (1), a labor union organized by majority of all the members of the trade unions which participate in procedures for the simplification of bargaining windows (including cases where not less than two trade unions become the majority of all the members of the trade unions which participate in procedures for the simplification of bargaining windows by delegation, combination, etc.) shall be a representative bargaining trade union. <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>
- (5) Where the trade unions fail to determine a representative bargaining trade union pursuant to paragraphs (3) and (4), all the trade unions which participate in procedures for the simplification of bargaining windows shall organize a bargaining delegation jointly (hereafter in this Article referred to as “joint bargaining delegation”) and bargain with an employer. In such cases, a trade union which may participate in the joint bargaining delegation shall be a trade union, the number of members of which is not less than 10/100 of the total members of the trade unions participating in procedures for the simplification of bargaining windows. <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>
- (6) Where the trade unions fail to organize a joint bargaining delegation pursuant to paragraph (5), the Labor Relations Commission may determine the same in consideration of the ratio of members of trade unions at the request of the relevant trade unions. <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>
- (7) Where any trade union has an objection to a fact of request for bargaining, the number of members, etc. of a trade union in determining a representative bargaining trade union under paragraphs (1) and (3) through (5), the Labor Relations Commission may decide on such objection at the request of the trade union as prescribed by Presidential Decree. <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>

(8) Articles 69 and 70 (2) shall apply mutatis mutandis to procedures for dissatisfaction with and effect on the determination of the Labor Relations Commission pursuant to paragraphs (6) and (7). <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>

(9) Matters necessary for procedures for the simplification of bargaining windows, such as a request for bargaining, method of participation, calculation standards of the number of members for the determination of a representative bargaining trade union of the trade unions, and the prevention of increase in bargaining expenses, etc. shall be prescribed by Presidential Decree. <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>

(10) The number of union members provided under the foregoing paragraphs 4 to 7 and 9 shall be computed based on the union members who work for the business or business place. <Newly inserted on Jan. 5, 2021>

[Newly inserted on Jan. 1, 2010]

[Enforced on Jul. 6, 2021] Article 29-2

(3) Collective agreement

- Meaning

- A “collective agreement” is a document about an agreement reached through collective bargaining by an employer and the labor representative concerning the terms and conditions of employment, treatment of workers, and rights and obligations of the two sides.

- Establishment

- ① Form

- A collective agreement shall be prepared in writing, and both of the parties shall affix their signatures or their seals thereto (Article 31 (1), the Trade Union and Labor Relations Adjustment Act)

② Procedure

- The parties to a collective agreement shall make a report of the collective agreement to the administrative agencies within 15 days of the date of its conclusion (Article 31 (2), the above Act)
- The report should be made in the joint name of the two sides with a copy of the collective agreement attached.
- When a collective agreement has any unlawful contents, the administrative agencies may, with the resolution of the Labor Relations Commission, order to correct them.

• Validity

- A collective agreement comes into force on the date agreed to by the two sides or the day the collective agreement is signed by them.
- The validity shall be determined through mutual agreement between the management and the employees within a period not exceeding three years. <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>

• Interpretation

- Where there arises dispute over the interpretation of a clause of the collective agreement or how to implement it, the parties (or either party set by the agreement) may ask the Labor Relations Commission for its opinion.
- Upon such a request, the Labor Relations Commission should express its clear opinion within 30 days. (Its opinion thus presented has the same effect as arbitration.)

- Scope of application (Binding force)

- ① Binding force extended to those in the same workplace

- When a collective agreement applies to a majority of workers of the same kind of job employed under ordinary circumstances in a business or workplace, it shall apply to the other workers of the same kind of job employed in the same business or workplace (Article 35, the above Act).

- ② Binding force extended to those in the same geographical area

- When two-thirds or more of the workers of the same kind of job employed in an area are subject to one collective agreement, the administrative agencies may, with the resolution of the Labor Relations Commission, at the request of either of the parties to the collective agreement or ex officio, make a decision that the said collective agreement shall apply to other workers of the same kind of job and their employers engaged in the same area.

- Renewal and extension

- ① Automatic renewal

- The parties to a collective agreement may agree to have it continue to be in force for a certain period of time, unless either party expresses its wish to have it amended by a certain period in advance of the last day of the current validity.

- ② Automatic extension

- The parties to a collective agreement may agree to have it continue to be in force until it is replaced with a new one following the end of its current validity (Article 32 (3), the above Act, proviso).
 - Either party may terminate the existing collective agreement by serving a notice on the other party at least six months in advance.

③ Statutory automatic extension

- Where parties to a collective agreement fail to sign a new collective agreement that will replace the existing one despite continued collective bargaining, the existing one should remain in force until three months following the last

Article 31 (Preparing of Collective Agreement)

- (1) A collective agreement shall be prepared in writing, and both of the parties shall affix their signatures or their seals thereto. <Amended on Dec. 30, 2006>
- (2) The parties to a collective agreement shall make a report of the collective agreement to the administrative agencies within 15 days from the date of its conclusion. <Amended on Feb. 20, 1998>
- (3) When a collective agreement has any unlawful contents, the administrative agencies may, with the resolution of the Labor Relations Commission, order to correct them. <Amended on Feb. 20, 1998>

Article 32 (Upper limit of validity of collective agreement)

- (1) The validity of a collective agreement may be determined based on the agreement between the management and the labor within the extent that it does not exceed three years. <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>
- (2) When the effective term is not specified in a collective agreement or exceeds the period as specified in paragraph (1), it shall be three years. <Amended on Jan. 5, 2021>
- (3) When, even though both of the parties continued to conduct collective bargaining to make a new collective agreement before or after the expiry of the effective term of an existing agreement, they fails to make a new collective agreement, the existing collective agreement shall remain valid for three more months after its expiry, except as there exists a separate agreement to the contrary: Provided, That where the collective agreement contains separate provisions to the effect that when a new collective agreement is not made in spite of the expiry of the term of an existing collective agreement, said existing collective agreement shall remain effective until a new collective agreement is made, such separate provisions shall be observed. Any party to the agreement may, however, terminate the existing collective agreement by notifying the other party of such termination six months in advance of the date he intends to terminate it. <Amended on Feb. 20, 1998>

[Enforced on Jul. 6, 2021] Article 32

Article 34 (Interpretation of Collective Agreement)

- (1) When there is any disagreement between the parties on the interpretation and the implementation methods of a collective agreement, both of the parties to that collective agreement, or one party thereto as prescribed in the agreement may ask the Labor Relations Commission for its views on such interpretation and implementation methods.
- (2) The Labor Relations Commission shall, upon receiving a request as referred to in paragraph (1), give its clear-cut views within thirty days from the date of receipt of the request.
- (3) The views on such interpretation and implementation methods which are given by the Labor Relations Commission pursuant to paragraph (2), shall have the same effect as that of an arbitration award.

Article 35 (General Binding Force)

When a collective agreement applies to a majority of workers of the same kind of job employed under ordinary circumstances in a business or workplace, it shall apply to the other workers of the same kind of job employed in the same business or workplace.

Article 36 (Geographical Binding Force)

- (1) When two-thirds or more of the workers of the same kind of job employed in an area are subject to one collective agreement, the administrative agencies may, with resolution of the Labor Relations Commission, at the request of either of the parties to the collective agreement or ex officio, make a decision that the said collective agreement shall apply to other workers of the same kind of job and their employers engaged in the same area. <Amended on Feb. 20, 1998>
- (2) When the administrative agencies make a decision as referred to in paragraph (1), they shall give public notice of it without delay. <Amended on Feb. 20, 1998>

(4) Industrial actions

• Meaning

- “Industrial actions” means actions or counter-actions which obstruct the normal operation of a business, such as strikes, sabotage, lock-outs, and other activities through which the parties to labor relations intend to accomplish their claims (Article 2, Subparagraph 6, the above Act).

• Procedure

- In the event of occurrence of an industrial dispute, either party to labor relations may ask the Labor Relations Commission for adjustment under the adjustment preceding principle and then start industrial actions (Article 45 (2), the above Act).
- When a trade union intends to engage in an industrial action, it shall report the date, place, the number of participants in, and the method of the industrial action, in advance in writing to the administrative agencies and the competent Labor Relations Commission (Article 17, Enforcement Decree of the above Act).

• Judgment on justifiability

① Key actors

- No member of a trade union shall take part in any industrial action which is not led by the trade union (Article 37 (2), the above Act).

② Purpose

- The purpose of an industrial action should be to carry out self-governed negotiations between the labor union and an employer for enhancement of the terms and conditions of employment for workers and their economic and social status.
- The judgment should be made in individual cases, depending on the nature of specific industrial actions.

③ Means and methods

(a) Prohibition of the use of violence and destructive acts

- Industrial actions shall not be conducted by resorting to violence or destruction or by occupying facilities related to production or other major work or other facilities equivalent thereto as prescribed by Presidential Decree (Article 42 (1), the above Act).

Facilities that should not be used in industrial actions

- ① Power supply, computer, or communications facilities
- ② Railroad (including urban railroad) vehicles or tracks
- ③ Ships under construction or repair or moored except those with seamen as stipulated in the Seafarers Act aboard

(a) General requirement

- Industrial actions should only be used as the last resort when collective bargaining has been stalled or it is meaningless to proceed with it. (judicial precedent; administrative interpretation)

(b) Legal restrictions

(1) Vote for/against industrial actions:

A trade union shall not conduct industrial actions, unless decided with concurrent votes of a majority of the union members by a direct, secret, and unsigned ballot. The number of union members shall be computed based on the union members who work at the business or business place (Article 41 (1), the above Act).

(2) Adjustment preceding system:

Any industrial action shall not be conducted without completing adjustment procedures, where either party has asked for adjustment of industrial disputes (Article 45 (2), the above Act).

(3) Report of industrial actions:

When intending to engage in industrial actions, the trade union should submit a written report to the administrative agencies and the competent Labor Relations Commission (concerning hour/date, place, participants, and method)

(4) Interpretation of mediation proposal:

The parties concerned shall not conduct any industrial action in connection with the interpretation or performance of the mediation proposal concerned, until views of the mediation committee or single mediator on the interpretation or performance methods are presented (Article 60 (5), the above Act).

- Means of industrial actions

- ① On the part of the trade union

- Strike, sabotage, production management, boycott, picketing, sit-in, work-to-rule, etc.

- ② On the part of an employer

- (a) Lockout

- “Lockout” is an act against workers' industrial actions. It refers to an employer's temporary rejection of the work provided by workers.
 - An employer may only choose to adopt lockout against trade union's industrial actions.
 - When intending to adopt lockout, an employer should report it to the competent administrative agencies and the Labor Relations Commission in advance.

Restriction on use substitute workers

- Restriction on hiring/substitution

An employer shall not hire or substitute any person not related to the relevant business during a period of industrial actions in order to continue works which have been interrupted by the industrial actions (Article 43 (1), the above Act).

- No contracting/subcontracting works (Article 43, the above Act).

An employer shall not, during a period of industrial actions, contract or subcontract works which have been interrupted by the industrial actions.

※ An employer of the essential public-service business may contract or subcontract works which have been interrupted by the industrial actions, if the scope does not exceed half of those participating in industrial actions (Article 43 (3) and (4), the above Act).

- Protection of industrial actions

- When an employer has suffered damages due to collective bargaining or industrial action under this Act, he shall not claim damages against a trade union or workers (Article 3, the above Act).
- Except for a criminal caught on the spot, workers shall not be detained for any violation of this Act during a period of industrial actions (Article 39, the above Act).
- An employer shall not dismiss or treat unfavorably workers on grounds that he has taken part in industrial actions (Article 81, the above Act). and the Labor Relations Commission in advance.

- Types of unfair labor practices (Article 81, the above Act)

- ① Unfavorable treatment (Subparagraphs 1 and 5)

- Dismissal or unfavorable treatment of a worker on grounds that he/she has joined - or intends to join - a trade union or attempted to organize a trade union or performed any other lawful act for the operation of a trade union
- Dismissal of workers or acts against their interests on grounds that they have participated in justifiable collective activities, reported to or testified before the Labor Relations Commission that the employer has violated the provisions of this Article, or presented other evidences to the relevant administrative agencies

- ② Unfair employment contract (Subparagraph 2)

- Employment of a worker on condition that he/she should not join or should withdraw from a trade union or that he/she should join a particular trade union
- Such condition imposed either in writing or verbally

Union shop agreement

- Meaning

- An employer shall not hire or substitute any person not related to the relevant business during a period of industrial actions in order to continue works which have been interrupted by the industrial actions (Article 43 (1), the above Act).

- Stipulation in the law

- Where a trade union represents at least two-thirds of the workers in a workplace, a collective agreement may be signed on condition that the workers will be members of the trade union (Article 81, Subparagraph 2, the above Act).

③ Rejection of collective bargaining (Subparagraph 3)

- An employer may not reject or neglect to engage in collective bargaining including signing a collective agreement with the labor representative or a person entrusted by the trade union without justifiable reason as such falls under the category of unfair labor practice.

④ Domination of, interference in, or financial support for the operation of a trade union (Subparagraph 4):

- Domination of or interference in the organization or operation of a trade union by workers.
- Acts of paying wages in excess of the limit of work-hours exempted or assisting the operational expenses of the union
- The following shall be allowed as exceptions:
 - Performance of duties provided under the law or activities for maintaining or managing the union during work hours;
 - Donation to funds for employee welfare benefits or for prevention or relief from financial difficulties or other disasters;
 - Provision of a minimum-size union office space;
 - Aid with union operational funds within the extent that it does not infringe the independent operation or activities of the union comparable to the above.

- Remedies for unfair labor practices

- ① Meaning

- Any workers suffering from unfair labor practices or a trade union may seek remedies through any administrative agencies or the court or ask for punishment.

- ② Procedure for remedies through the Labor Relations Commission

- (a) Application

- An application for remedy should be made within three months of the date of occurrence of unfair labor practice.
 - The application should include the following information: names/addresses of the workers and business owner, purpose/reason for application, and date of application.

- (b) Screening

- Upon receiving the application, the Labor Relations Commission should start investigation and question the relevant parties.
 - The Commission may, at the request of the parties concerned or ex officio, have witnesses appear at its sessions and answer questions.

- (c) Judgment

- The Labor Relations Commission should draw up its letter of judgment based on the result of the questioning for dispatch to the relevant parties.
 - Where it is judged that there has been an unfair labor practice, the Commission should issue an order of remedy.

- (d) Appeal

- Either party having any objection to the order of remedy or rejecting the application by the Local or Special Labor Relations Commission may ask the National Labor Relations Commission for reexamination of the case within 10 days of the local/special Commission's decision (Article 85 (1), the above Act).

③ Administrative suit

- Either party may institute an administrative suit against a decision on review by the National Labor Relations Commission within 15 days of the date of receiving the notice of the decision on review (Article 85 (2), the above Act).

④ Emergency order for execution

- When an employer has instituted an administrative suit, the competent court may, by its decision at the request of the National Labor Relations Commission, order the employer to perform all or part of the order of remedy issued by the National Labor Relations Commission until the judgment of the court is rendered, and may also, at the request of any of the parties concerned or ex officio, revoke such decision (Article 85 (5), the above Act).

Article 81 (Unfair Labor Practices)

Employers shall not conduct any act falling under any of the following subparagraphs (hereinafter referred to as “unfair labor practice”):
<Amended on Dec. 30, 2006; Jan. 1, 2010; Jun. 9, 2020; Jan. 5, 2021>

1. Dismissal or unfavorable treatment of a worker on grounds that he/she has joined -- or intends to join -- a trade union, or attempted to organize a trade union, or performed any other lawful act for the operation of a trade union;
2. Employment of a worker on condition that he/she should not join or should withdraw from a trade union, or that he/she should join a particular trade union. Where a trade union represents two-thirds or more of the workers working in the workplace concerned, however, the conclusion of a collective agreement under which a person is employed on condition that he/she should join the trade union shall be allowed as an exceptional case, in which case an employer may not engage in any act disadvantageous to the status of a worker on grounds that he/she is expelled from the trade union concerned;

3. Refusal of or delay in the execution of a collective agreement or other collective bargaining with the representative of a trade union or with a person authorized by the trade union without any justifiable reason;
4. Acts of controlling or interfering with the organization or operation of a labor union by the employees or payment of wages in excess of the limit of work-hours exempted or aiding with the operational expenses of the union. However, the employer may allow such activities under Article 24 (2) during duty hours. The following activities are also allowed; donation to funds for employee welfare benefits or for the prevention or relief from financial difficulties or other disasters; provision of minimum-size union office space; and aid with union operational funds within the extent that it does not risk infringing the independent operation or activities of the union comparable to the above.
5. Dismissal of workers or acts against their interests on grounds that they have participated in justifiable collective activities, reported to or testified before the Labor Relations Commission that the employer has violated the provisions of this Article, or presented other evidences to the relevant administrative agencies.

Article 82 (Application for Remedy)

- (1) A worker or a trade union may make an application for remedy to the Labor Relations Commission concerned on grounds that the worker's rights have been infringed by an unfair labor practice on the part of the employer.
- (2) An application for remedy as referred to in paragraph (1) shall be made within three months of the date of occurrence of the unfair labor practice concerned (where any such practice is in progress, from the date of its termination).

Article 83 (Investigation, etc.)

- (1) Upon receiving the application for remedy as referred to in Article 82, the Labor Relations Commission concerned shall conduct a necessary investigation and inquiry of the persons involved without delay.
- (2) When conducting the inquiry as referred to in paragraph (1), the Labor Relations Commission may, at the request of any one of the parties concerned or ex officio, have a relevant witness appear before the Labor Relations Commission and ask questions on the pertinent matters.
- (3) In conducting the inquiry as referred to in paragraph (1), the Labor Relations Commission shall give the parties concerned adequate opportunities to present evidence and to cross-examine a witness.
- (4) Procedures pertaining to the investigation and inquiry by the Labor Relations Commission as referred to in paragraph (1) shall be followed as separately stipulated by the National Labor Relations Commission.

Article 84 (Order of Remedy)

- (1) Upon judging that the employer has committed an unfair labor practice after completing the inquiry as referred to in Article 83, the Labor Relations Commission shall issue an order of remedy to the employer; otherwise, it shall make a decision to dismiss the application for remedy.

- (2) Judgments, orders, or decisions as referred to in paragraph (1) shall be made in writing and shall be delivered to the pertinent employer and the applicant.
- (3) When the order as referred to in paragraph (1) is issued, the parties concerned shall comply with it.

Article 85 (Finality of Order of Remedy)

- (1) Any of the parties challenging an order of remedy or the dismissal decision by the Regional Labor Relations Commission or by the Special Labor Relations Commission may make an application for review of said order or decision to the National Labor Relations Commission within ten days of the date of receiving the notice of order or decision.
- (2) Any of the parties concerned may institute an administrative suit in accordance with the Administrative Litigation Act against a decision on review by the National Labor Relations Commission under paragraph (1) within 15 days of the date of receiving the notice of the decision on review.
- (3) Unless an application for review or an administrative suit has been made within the period specified in paragraphs (1) and (2), the order of remedy, dismissal decision, or decision on review shall be final and binding.
- (4) When a dismissal decision or a decision on review as referred to in paragraph (3) is final and binding, the parties concerned shall comply with it.
- (5) When an employer has instituted an administrative suit pursuant to paragraph (2), the competent court may, by its decision at the request of the National Labor Relations Commission, order the employer to perform all or part of the order of remedy issued by the National Labor Relations Commission until the judgment of the court is rendered and may also, at the request of any of the parties concerned or ex officio, revoke such decision.

Article 86 (Effect of Order of Remedy, etc.)

The effect of an order of remedy, a dismissal decision, or a decision on review by the Labor Relations Commission shall not be suspended by an application for review to the National Labor Relations Commission or by the institution of an administrative suit as prescribed in Article 85.

Article 14 (Measures When Sexual Harassment Occurs in the Workplace)

- (1) Where any person becomes aware of the fact that sexual harassment has occurred in the workplace, he/she may report such fact to the relevant employer.
- (2) Upon receiving a report under paragraph (1) or becoming aware of the fact that sexual harassment has occurred in the workplace, an employer shall immediately conduct an investigation to verify whether sexual harassment has occurred in the workplace. In such cases, the employer shall give consideration to the employee who suffered sexual harassment in the workplace or who alleges such (hereinafter referred to as "victimized employee") to avoid having him/her feel sexual shame, etc. in the course of any investigation.
- (3) Where it is necessary to protect a victimized employee during the period of investigation under paragraph (2), an employer shall take appropriate measures, such as change of the place where the victimized employee works or issuance of an order to have the victimized employee take a paid leave of absence. In such cases, no employer shall take measures against the wishes of the victimized employee.

- (4) Where the investigation under paragraph (2) finds that sexual harassment has occurred in the workplace, its employer shall take the necessary measures such as change of the place where the victimized employee works, redeployment, and issuance of an order to have the victimized employee take a paid leave of absence, if requested by the victimized employee.
- (5) Where the investigation under paragraph (2) finds that sexual harassment has occurred in the workplace, its employer shall immediately take the necessary measures against the perpetrator, such as disciplinary punishment or change of the place where the perpetrator works. In such cases, the employer shall hear the opinions of the victimized employee on the measure, such as disciplinary punishment, before implementing it.
- (6) No employer shall subject an employee who reports the occurrence of sexual harassment or a victimized employee to any of the following disadvantageous treatments:
 1. Dismissal, removal from office, discharge, or any other disadvantageous treatment corresponding to the loss of status;
 2. Inappropriate personnel actions, such as disciplinary punishment, suspension from office, salary reduction, demotion, or restrictions on promotion;
 3. Failure to assign duties, reassignment of duties, or any other personnel actions against the wishes of the relevant person;
 4. Discrimination in performance evaluations or peer review, or differential payment of wages, bonuses, etc. following such discrimination;
 5. Restrictions on opportunities for education and training for the development and improvement of vocational skills;
 6. Engagement in any act of causing mental or physical harm, such as group harassment, assault, or verbal abuse or non-action on the occurrence of such act;

7. Any other disadvantageous treatment against the wishes of the employee who reports the occurrence of sexual harassment or the victimized employee.

(7) No person who investigates the occurrence of sexual harassment in the workplace pursuant to paragraph (2), who receives a report on the details of investigation, or who participates in investigating the sexual harassment case shall divulge confidential information he/she obtains in the course of the relevant investigation to others against the wishes of a victimized employee. Note, however, that the foregoing shall not apply where he/she reports matters related to the investigation to his/her employer or provides the necessary information at the request of a related agency.

❖ Act on the Employment Promotion and Vocational Rehabilitation of Disabled Persons

Article 28 (Business Owners' Obligation to Employ Persons with Disabilities)

- (1) Any business owner who regularly employs at least fifty employees (or a business owner who has performed construction works whose amount is equivalent to at least that prescribed and publicly announced by the Minister of Employment and Labor, where it is impracticable to ascertain the number of employees in the construction works) shall employ persons with disabilities to fill at least the ratio (where such number has a fraction or a portion below the decimal point, such fraction or portion shall be rounded off) set by the Presidential Decree (hereinafter referred to as "mandatory employment rate") within up to five percent of the total number of employees (if it is impracticable to ascertain the total number of employees in the construction business, the total number of employees shall be calculated by converting the amount of construction works performed as prescribed by the Presidential Decree). <Amended on Jun. 4, 2010>
- (2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1), the mandatory rate for the employment of persons with disabilities may be prescribed separately by the Presidential Decree for a certain job category deemed fit for specific abilities of persons with disabilities. In such cases, such rate shall not be deemed the mandatory employment rate.

- (3) The mandatory employment rate shall be determined every five years considering the ratio of persons with disabilities to the total population, ratio of employees with disabilities to the total number of employees, number of unemployed persons with disabilities, etc.
- (4) The necessary matters concerning the calculation of the number of regularly employed employees and the amount of construction works performed in the construction business under paragraph (1) shall be prescribed by the Presidential Decree.

Article 29 (Establishment, etc. of Plan for the Employment of Persons with Disabilities by Business Owners)

- (1) The Minister of Employment and Labor may order business owners to prepare and submit a plan for the employment of persons with disabilities and the report on the record of implementation status thereof as prescribed by the Presidential Decree. <Amended on Jun. 4, 2010>
- (2) The Minister of Employment and Labor may, upon finding that the plan submitted in accordance with paragraph (1) is inadequate, order the business owner concerned to revise such plan. <Amended on Jun. 4, 2010>
- (3) If a business owner under Article 28 (1) fails to perform substantially, without any justifiable reason, his/her obligation to prepare a plan for the employment of persons with disabilities or to employ persons with disabilities, the Minister of Employment and Labor may publish the details relevant to such failure in performance to the general public. <Amended on Jun. 4, 2010>

Article 33 (Payment, etc. of Contributory Charges by Business Owners)

- (1) A business owner who employs persons with disabilities (excluding business owners who regularly employ at least 50, but not more than 100 employees) but fails to meet the mandatory rate for employment shall pay a contributory charge to the Minister of Employment and Labor each year as prescribed by the Presidential Decree. <Amended on Jun. 4, 2010; Dec. 27, 2016>
- (2) The amount of contributory charges shall be the annual aggregate of the amount calculated by multiplying the total number of persons with disabilities whom the business owner is obligated to employ at the mandatory rate for employment, less the number of persons with disabilities regularly employed each month, by the base amount of contributory charges set forth in paragraph (3). <Amended on Oct. 09, 2009>

- (3) The base amount of contributory charges shall be determined and publicly notified by the Minister of Employment and Labor within up to at least 60/100 of the minimum wage calculated on a monthly basis under the Minimum Wage Act, following deliberation by the Employment Policy Council, on the basis of average expenses incurred each month in employing persons with disabilities, as specified below, but may be increased according to the employment rate of persons with disabilities (which means the ratio of the total number of persons with disabilities employed to the total number of employees regularly employed each month) within up to one half of the base amount of contributory charges. Note, however, that the base amount of contributory charges to be paid by a business owner shall be the minimum wage calculated on a monthly basis under the Minimum Wage Act for the month when at least one person with disability is not regularly employed. <Amended on Jun. 4, 2010; Mar. 9, 2011>
1. Expenses incurred in installing and repairing facilities and equipment required for the employment of persons with disabilities;
 2. Expenses incurred in taking measures necessary for the proper management of employment of persons with disabilities;
 3. Other expenses incurred particularly in employing persons with disabilities.
- (4) The Minister of Employment and Labor may reduce or waive the contributory charge payable by a standardized workplace for persons with disabilities and which acquires the certification prescribed in Article 22-4 (1), or a business owner awarding a contract to vocational rehabilitation facilities for persons with disabilities as prescribed in Article 58 (1) 3 of the Act on the Welfare of Persons with Disabilities to be supplied with the products manufactured by such facilities. <Amended on Jun. 4, 2010; Dec. 27, 2016>

- (5) A business owner shall prepare and declare matters prescribed by the Presidential Decree and required for calculating the contributory charge and pay the contributory charge for the pertinent year to the Minister of Employment and Labor no later than January 31 of the following year (within 60 days of the date he/she discontinues or closes his/her business during the year). <Amended on Oct. 9, 2009; Jun. 4, 2010; Jul. 25, 2011>
- (6) Where a business owner fails to make a declaration by the deadline set forth in paragraph (5), the Minister of Employment and Labor may investigate the business to collect the contributory charge. <Amended 10/9/2009; 6/4/2010; 12/27/2016>
- (7) Where a business owner who has declared or paid a contributory charge under paragraph (5) (including cases wherein he/she has filed a revised declaration prescribed in paragraph (8); the same shall apply hereinafter in this Article) falls under any of the following, the Minister of Employment and Labor may investigate the relevant matters and collect the amount of contributory charge payable by the relevant business owner: <Amended on 12/27/2016>
1. Where the amount of contributory charge declared by a business owner falls short of the actual amount payable by him/her;
 2. Where the amount of contributory charge paid by a business owner falls short of the amount of contributory charge declared by him/her;
 3. Where a business owner has failed to pay the amount of contributory charge he/she has declared.
- (8) Where the amount of contributory charge declared by a business owner under paragraph (5) is less than the actual amount of contributory charge payable by him/her, he/she may file a revised declaration and pay the difference by the end of February of the relevant year as prescribed by the Presidential Decree. <Newly Inserted on 12/27/ 2016>
- (9) Where the amount of contributory charge paid by a business owner is greater than the actual amount of contributory charge payable by him/her, the Minister of Employment and Labor shall refund the amount calculated by adding the amount of interest computed through the application of the interest rate prescribed by the Presidential Decree to the excess amount, as prescribed by the Presidential Decree. <Newly Inserted on 12/27/ 2016>

- (10) The contributory charge may be paid in installments as prescribed by the Presidential Decree. In such cases, where the contributory charge payable in installments is fully paid by the deadline for payment set forth in paragraph (5), a certain amount prescribed by the Presidential Decree may be deductible at up to 5/100 of the amount of the contributory charge.
- (11) The necessary matters concerning the standards of contracts under paragraph (4) and other requisites, guidelines, etc. for the reduction or waiving of the contributory charge shall be determined by the Minister of Employment and Labor. <Amended on 6/4/ 2010>
